Heather Won Choi

Heather Choi, Chairman and founder of SMYH Foundation has been honored by the National Ethnic Coalition of Organizations (NECO), as recipients of the 2017 Ellis Island Medal of Honor.

She believes that investing in people is a way to make this world a better place.

This is the reason why, Heather established 'Show Me Your Heart', a non-profit organization that aims to expand opportunities for artists at home and abroad by stimulating opportunities, challenges, and motivation for young artists engaged in art and music. Mrs. Choi also serves on the Hackensack University Medical Center Board of Trustees