

Cristina Tarulli, Treasurer

Cristina Tarulli is a director in PwC's NY Insurance Practice with 10 years of experience serving multinational insurance clients. She has significant SEC and insurance experience, having served a variety of the firm's largest life, financial guaranty, and property and casualty insurance clients. Cristina specializes in assisting her clients in solving their complex business, operational, and accounting matters.

While working in the Assurance practice, she has had significant experience in US GAAP and US Statutory accounting, leading teams in a variety of complex business situations, including acquisitions/mergers, and adopting new accounting pronouncements. She also has experience project managing an entire assurance engagement and coordinating amongst international member firm teams and cross line of service specialists.

Cristina also spends her time volunteering to teach core assurance and accounting and auditing workshop trainings in the NY Financial Services Practice and has supported the NY Insurance Practice staffing and other development committees.

Her current and prior clients have included Prudential, Assured Guaranty, Arch Capital Group Ltd., as well as assisting on various smaller projects for PwC's insurance clients.

Cristina is the Treasurer and a recurring Board member of Newark School of the Arts. During her tenure, she has led several volunteer sessions with fellow PwC colleagues delivering financial literacy classes to the school and its community through PwC's Reimagine Grant Program.
