

Divad Sanders is President and CEO of SLAM Global, Inc., a leading community empowerment focused arts and education non-profit developed for youth, ages 10-24, along with their families. Founded in 2005, SLAM Global, Inc. is headquartered in Newark, New Jersey, and has reached youth from Honolulu, Hawaii to Leeds, England..

An alumni of the acclaimed City of Newark, New Jersey Arts High School, where he majored in Fine Arts, he would later receive his Bachelor's degree in Psychology from Kean University. He is currently on educational pathways to obtain an Ed.M, focusing on Learning, Cognition and Development and Ed.D in Educational Leadership from Rutgers University.

He has worked alongside various community, arts and education based organizations, including NJPAC, Arts Horizons, Playwrights Theater of NJ, Community Works, Newark Museum, Rush Arts Gallery and famed Newark-born artist Savion Glover's- TheHooFeRzCLuB.